ASU Celebrated Earth Day all Month

Our Environment and the Impact We All Have on Our Planet

Each day we focused on a different aspect of the Earth:

Children, teachers and administrators make the grade by increasing awareness of the environment and the impact we all have on our planet. When it comes to going green, ASU should get an A-plus for their efforts. ASU formed an Earth Month Committee (Chris Maconachie, Megan Bond, JuHye Ahn) that was dedicated to global awareness. They shared a month long schedule of ideas and activities that got all teachers and students involved. There were contests, projects, field trips, donations and much, much, more all month leading up to Earth Day. Each day a class shared tips for saving the Earth at morning announcements. All month, classes were focused on ways they can make a difference. On Earth Day, April 22, ASU held a special assembly. It is never too early to teach children about doing their part to take care of the Earth.

We have had a wonderful 2010-2011 school year and it is not over yet!
